LITTLE FROGMAN IN BIG POND-Pre-opening visitors at Ft. Walton Beach, Florida's fabulous new Gulfarium admire the antics of Jim Kline, skin diver on the Gulfarium staff, who is just emerging from the partially filled tank after an under-water inspection. Windows in the background are some of the 107 underwater viewing portholes for visitors. Work on the Gulfarium, which will house an estimated 250 different species of living wish and other Gulf life in its 500,000 gallon main tank, is proceeding rapidly, and a July opening seems within reach. The Gulfarium is situated on US Route 98, just east of Ft. Walton Beach, and right beside the Gulf of Mexico, visible here in the background. In addition to live marine life on exhibit, the attraction will offer a free bathing beach and fishing pier adjoining, and a free

More of the Record of Coffee County's Representative

After last week's editorial on Repre- fee County's representative was busy getrebuttal was not too long and in good t would be in good taste to mention that as the Governor's brother.

There's nothing wrong with saying that. As a matter of fact we have seniority over him insofar as having purchased our stock before he got his. Five hundred dolars worth of stock was purchased by us when Ross Clark organized the Elba Building and Supply about three years ago. Our stock ownership is a matter of common knowledge as are most transactions in a small town. As far as we know it is perfectly legal to buy stock in any corporation. What we can't see is how our buying stock three years ago has any effect on Stokes' voting record, which we will rehash
